

POEM

Odyssey of life

Born to the world
you unfurl your sails,
snapping and billowing
they harness the power, leading you through the odyssey of life.

Wallowing in calm waters you listen to the rhythm of life.
But, never far away
the wish of a breeze
to fill your sails,
and proudly you cut
a swathe through gentle waters.

To'ing and fro'ing
you face challenges,
adapting with ease.
But troubled waters lie ahead, as winds of change bluster and storm clouds gather.

The utmost challenge facing you, your sails battered and torn you falter, struggling for a safe haven
to rest your wounded soul.

The storm over, you emerge shaken, but not broken.
And once again
you unfurl your sails
forging ahead, in your quest to master the seas.

Stefanie Fleischer

Correspondence to Stefanie Fleischer, Waterford Healing Arts Trust, University Hospital Waterford, Waterford, Ireland; stefanie.fleischer@hse.ie

Competing interests None.

Provenance and peer review Not commissioned; internally peer reviewed.

To cite Fleischer S. Med Humanit Published Online First: [please include Day Month Year] doi:10.1136/medhum-2016-011126

Med Humanit 2016;0:1. doi:10.1136/medhum-2016-011126