

Subject index

- adolescence, Philosophical pitfalls in cosmetic surgery: a case of rhinoplasty during adolescence, 61
- aesthetics, Medical humanities among the healing arts?, 57
- aging, Anticipating deep autumn: a widening lens, 82
- anorexia nervosa, Qu'un souffle de vent: an exploration of anorexia nervosa, 3
- art of medicine, Art, science, and the existential focus of clinical medicine, 74
- art, Anticipating deep autumn: a widening lens, 82
- arts in health, Medical humanities among the healing arts?, 57
- body image, Body image and the innocent eye, 35
- Book reviews, Bolton G. Reflective Practice: Writing and Professional Development, 56
Midgley M. Science and Poetry, 108
Salinsky J, Sackin P. What Are You Feeling Doctor? Identifying and Avoiding Defensive Patterns in the Consultation, 55
Steinberg D. Letters from the Clinic: Letter Writing in Clinical Practice for Mental Health Professionals, 55
Willis J. Friends in Low Places book reviews, 55
- chaos theory, Does chaos theory have major implications for philosophy of medicine?, 78
- charlatanry, Knock: a study in medical cynicism, 14
- concept of causation, Does chaos theory have major implications for philosophy of medicine?, 78
- concept of disease, Does chaos theory have major implications for philosophy of medicine?, 78
- continuing medical education, Escape or instruction? A description of a seminar for general practitioners on literature and medicine, 53
- cosmetic surgery, Philosophical pitfalls in cosmetic surgery: a case of rhinoplasty during adolescence, 61
- creativity, Creative writing workshops for medical education: learning from a pilot study with hospital staff, 102
- depressive illness, Depressive illness delayed Hamlet's revenge, 92
- diagnosis, Medical humanities among the healing arts?, 57
- eating disorders and moral values, Qu'un souffle de vent: an exploration of anorexia nervosa, 3
- ethos of place, Medical facilities as moral worlds, 19
- evidence based medicine, Is surgical mystique a myth and double standard the reality?, 66
- existential, Art, science, and the existential focus of clinical medicine, 74
- family physicians, Escape or instruction? A description of a seminar for general practitioners on literature and medicine, 53
- French literature, Knock: a study in medical cynicism, 14
- gender issues, Body image and the innocent eye, 35
- geriatric care, Medical facilities as moral worlds, 19
- Hamlet, Depressive illness delayed Hamlet's revenge, 92
- healthism, Knock: a study in medical cynicism, 14
- history of physician-patient relationship, 'He found me very well; for me, I was still feeling sick': The strange worlds of physicians and patients in the 18th and 21st centuries, 9
- history, Diseases are invisible, 71
- instrumental benefits, 'Medical humanities'—what's in a name?, 1
- intellectual inquiry, 'Medical humanities'—what's in a name?, 1
- intrinsic benefits, 'Medical humanities'—what's in a name?, 1
- Jules Romains, Knock: a study in medical cynicism, 14
- life story, personal identity, Philosophical pitfalls in cosmetic surgery: a case of rhinoplasty during adolescence, 61
- lightness and morality, Qu'un souffle de vent: an exploration of anorexia nervosa, 3
- literature and medicine, Literary narrative in medical practice, 41
- literature, Anticipating deep autumn: a widening lens, 82
- medical curriculum, Courses, content, and a student essay in medical humanities, 49
Making room for medical humanities, 45
- medical education, Acquiring experience in medical humanities teaching: the chicken and egg conundrum, 101
Anticipating deep autumn: a widening lens, 82
Creative writing workshops for medical education: learning from a pilot study with hospital staff, 102
Making room for medical humanities, 45
The University of Birmingham Medical School and the history of medicine, 33
Two stories and an ode, 28
- Medical facilities, Medical facilities as moral worlds, 19
- medical humanities teaching, Acquiring experience in medical humanities teaching: the chicken and egg conundrum, 101
- medical humanities, Acquiring experience in medical humanities teaching: the chicken and egg conundrum, 101
Anticipating deep autumn: a widening lens, 82
Courses, content, and a student essay in medical humanities, 49
'He found me very well; for me, I was still feeling sick': The strange worlds of physicians and patients in the 18th and 21st centuries, 9
Making room for medical humanities, 45
Medical humanities among the healing arts?, 57
Of pipes, persons, and patients, 88
The internet and medical humanities: a reflection, 108
The University of Birmingham Medical School and the history of medicine, 33
Two stories and an ode, 28
- medical science, Art, science, and the existential focus of clinical medicine, 74
- mental illness, Body image and the innocent eye, 35
- Michel Foucault, Of pipes, persons, and patients, 88
- modern literature, Escape or instruction? A description of a seminar for general practitioners on literature and medicine, 53
- modern medicine, Diseases are invisible, 71
- moral reflection on architecture, Medical facilities as moral worlds, 19
- moral worlds, Medical facilities as moral worlds, 19
- multidisciplinary learning, Creative writing workshops for medical education: learning from a pilot study with hospital staff, 102
- narrative and medical practice, Literary narrative in medical practice, 41
- non-linear dynamics, Does chaos theory have major implications for philosophy of medicine?, 78
- obesity, Body image and the innocent eye, 35
- patient care, Is surgical mystique a myth and double standard the reality?, 66
- patient/physician relationships, Body image and the innocent eye, 35
- patients' narratives, 'He found me very well; for me, I was still feeling sick': The strange worlds of physicians and patients in the 18th and 21st centuries, 9
- patients, Of pipes, persons, and patients, 88
- perception of illness, 'He found me very well; for me, I was still feeling sick': The strange worlds of physicians and patients in the 18th and 21st centuries, 9
- persons, Of pipes, persons, and patients, 88
- philosophy of medicine, Does chaos theory have major implications for philosophy of medicine?, 78
- philosophy, Diseases are invisible, 71
- physical disability, Body image and the innocent eye, 35
- physician-patient communication, 'He found me very well; for me, I was still feeling sick': The strange worlds of physicians and patients in the 18th and 21st centuries, 9
- quandary ethics, Medical facilities as moral worlds, 19
- René Magritte, Of pipes, persons, and patients, 88
- responsibility, Philosophical pitfalls in cosmetic surgery: a case of rhinoplasty during adolescence, 61
- Shakespeare, Depressive illness delayed Hamlet's revenge, 92
- social organisation, Knock: a study in medical cynicism, 14
- status cynicism, Knock: a study in medical cynicism, 14
- stethoscope, Diseases are invisible, 71
- surgery, Is surgical mystique a myth and double standard the reality?, 66
- techné Art, science, and the existential focus of clinical medicine, 74
- technology, Diseases are invisible, 71
- the internet, The internet and medical humanities: a reflection, 108
- therapeutic effect, Medical humanities among the healing arts?, 57
- Transplantation—The Book of Jesse, Transplant: a non-fiction narrative, 23
- unbearable lightness, Qu'un souffle de vent: an exploration of anorexia nervosa, 3
- values, Philosophical pitfalls in cosmetic surgery: a case of rhinoplasty during adolescence, 61
- ways of seeing, Medical humanities among the healing arts?, 57
- writing, Creative writing workshops for medical education: learning from a pilot study with hospital staff, 102
- written consultation, 'He found me very well; for me, I was still feeling sick': The strange worlds of physicians and patients in the 18th and 21st centuries, 9