

Medical Humanities

Edition of the Journal of Medical Ethics

Contents

Original articles

- 1 Dr Bruno Sachs addresses an audience of first year medical students: an extract from the writing of Martin Winckler, French doctor and writer
D Jeffries, M Winckler
- 4 "I am living in my own corpse" — the experience of tuberculosis in poems by A B Šimić M-A Dürrigl, S Fatović-Ferenčić
- 7 Sickness, healing, and opera: Wagner's Parsifal K L Dunn
- 11 Some perspectives on Chekhov's short story A Case History J Niemi
- 14 Creativity, self creation, and the treatment of mental illness
A Rothenberg
- 20 Motherhood versus patienthood: a conflict of identities J R Dent
- 25 Body and self: a phenomenological study on the ageing body and identity
J Bullington
- 32 Expressing freedom and taking liberties: the paradoxes of aberrant science
M Little
- 38 Prenatal diagnosis and selective abortion: a result of the cultural turn?
D I Bromage
- 48 Medical ethics as therapy A Zucker
- 53 Being the monster: women's narratives of body and self after treatment for breast cancer
L Rosenblatt
- 57 "Stepford doctors": an allegory
G M Sayers
- 59 Evaluating a poetry workshop in medical education T J Collett, J C McLachlan

Opening the Word hoard

- 43 Stories for change G Bolton
- 44 Mister Doctor Batley N J Batley, F Physician
- 45 Going to the DOCS B Bub
- 46 The Voyage Tom J