

Medical Humanities

Edition of the Journal of Medical Ethics

Editorial

- 65 Absent friends in medical humanities
S Pattison

Original articles

- 67 The body as metaphor: digestive bodies and political surgery in Shakespeare's Macbeth M Spicci
- 70 Literature and the "good doctor" in Ian McEwan's Saturday J Macnaughton
- 75 The intersubjective and the intrasubjective in the patient-physician dyad: implications for medical humanities education A Kuper
- 81 Narratives in specialist palliative medicine M Malthouse
- 87 Thinking historically about public health A Bashford, C Strange
- 93 Metaphors for illness in contemporary media M Hanne, S J Hawken
- 100 Reading between the lines: the experiences of taking part in a community reading project S Hodge, J Robinson, P Davis

Education and debate

- 105 Teaching medical students professionalism: what role for the medical humanities? R Meakin
- 106 Written role models in professionalism education J Coulehan

Opening the word hoard

- 110 Uncertainty, ignorance, listening • Beauty of the beast • The kookaburra and the snake • Too busy for life • Stages of dying • To heal • When worlds collide: personal life experiences in the professional arena • Four stories • Afterword • The silent consultation G Bolton, Y Y W Mak, T Metcalf, A Williams, S Donnelly, D Greaves

Book review

- 66 Bioethics and the humanities: attitudes and perceptions S Pattison

Index

- 117 Author index
- 117 Subject index
- 119 Annual contents title page
- 120 Annual contents